

Norwich University.
Northfield, Vt.

Nov. 18, 1928.

To: The Hon. W. W. Husband. Dept. of Labor.
Subject; Immigration Language Books.

1. I have the honor to state that Prof. Rubert Whitcomb, Professor of the Romance Languages at Norwich University, has been given the Spanish book used by inspectors at the Texas Border and finds it valuable in regard to idioms, etc., not found in text-books.

2. Professor Whitcomb has asked the undersigned to procure, if possible, similar books prepared by the Department in the languages of French, German, and Italian.

3. Professor Whitcomb and the undersigned would deem it a very great favor if the Honorable W.W. Husband would ascertain whether or not such books, in the mentioned languages of French, German, and Italian were procurable. If so, they would prostrate themselves in worship and gratitude if the said books in the aforementioned languages of French, German, and Italian could be forwarded to the undersigned care of Norwich University, where at present he is stationed for the good of President and Country.

Very respectfully.

R. F. Husband.
